Women In Leadership - A Road less travelled and stones unturned

Canadian women are on the move and they bring unique offerings to the table. Currently in Canada, 61.3% of women participate in the labour force making us one of the top ranking in the world. In 2021, women held 36% of senior management positions and 15% of CEO positions, ranking Canada the 10th highest, ahead of the UK, France, US and Sweden.

However, it's no secret that women in leadership positions face unique challenges that require different strategies to navigate. The Women in Leadership forum brings together leaders in our profession to share their own personal experiences, provide insights in becoming effective leaders and to share strategies on how to navigate through rocky waters.
